NETA's PowerTest 2017 — Electrical Maintenance and Safety Conference — Tuesday
Highlights: Join the Discussion

PowerTest Tuesday is all about engagement, with attendees advancing their knowledge through open forum discussions and learning about new technologies on the trade show floor.

Portage, Michigan, September 09, 2016 — NETA, the InterNational Electrical Testing Association, will host its next annual conference February 27 – March 3, 2017, in Anaheim, California. This premier training event caters to professionals involved in the electrical power systems industry.

On PowerTest Monday, attendees choose from 27 different training sessions. Download the PowerTest brochure for session titles and presenters.

PowerTest Tuesday is all about engagement, starting off with a selection of four panel sessions moderated by subject matter experts. Participants join in an open forum of discussion on the topics that interest them most. Panel session topics cover:

- Electrical Safety
- Protective Relays
- Circuit Breakers
- Power Transformers

PowerTest Trade Show

The PowerTest Trade Show takes place Tuesday from 12:00 PM to 5:30 PM and showcases more than 30 new products and 100 top-tier electrical power suppliers.

Guests enjoy a complimentary lunch and beverages while walking the trade show floor, catching up on new technologies, or stopping in for technical presentations at the Spotlight Stage.

Following the PowerTest Trade Show, attendees are invited to join in NETA's 45th Anniversary celebration at the PowerBash Awards Reception from 7:00 PM to 10:00 PM. Enjoy an evening of Southern California-inspired food, awards, and music, as well as a fascinating historical display of industry apparatuses and equipment, and an opportunity to test your knowledge with a NETA Trivia Challenge — and perhaps win a prize.

“NETA and the industry have come a long way in 45 years, thanks to a collective commitment toward continual improvement across all sectors of the electrical power industry,” says Ron Widup, CEO of Shermco Industries and NETA's Board President. “NETA will celebrate its shared successes with a salute to the industry's advancements and achievements, and with a challenge to all power related business to continue to raise the bar on quality, safety, and reliability.”
